

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

You could do something about this illegal act. But will you serve honest journalism or cower under the edicts of a decidedly pro-corporation administration? Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to serve the people rather than just rubber-stamping big business. Thank you.
